

We have heard of several Pies and May parties, during the last week, in which the participants enjoyed themselves to their satisfaction. But, not being of the number, we cannot speak more particularly.

Stop That Pony!

A very small, black, Indian Pony (mare) with the letter P. branded upon the left hip, strayed away a few days since, and is probably still in the neighborhood. Any person who will suitably reward who will take up and return said pony to its owner, H. B. Smith, Esq., in Pomero, or notify him where it may be found.

"As sure as I'm alive!" Who would have thought! They have gone and went and done it! Done what you ask? Why, bless your simple soul, they have organized a Military Company right here in Pomero! Don't believe it, don't you! Well you'd better and all who want to go a "sweeping" had better be on hand at "Remington Hall" on next Wednesday evening. See the announcement—ATTENTION COMPANY! "In time of war prepare for peace!"

District Court.

It will be seen by an order of the Judges published in another column, that a special term of the District Court for Meigs County will be held in Pomero, on the 22d day of June. In consequence of the flood, and perhaps other causes, the Court failed to meet at the appointed time in April, and this special term is intended to supply the failure. Let all interested parties take notice, accordingly.

Sunday School Exhibition.

Let everybody attend the Sunday School exhibition, at the M. E. Church, in Middleport, on Friday evening, the first of June. It will do you good in various ways. The opening of the purse strings to pay the admission fee, will unlock the heart, and with the rusty bolts thrown back, the purer influences, flowing from the sphere of joyous and happy childhood, will find an entrance, and nestling like angels in your better affections will lift you at least a step higher, and make you better men and women. Try it, beside, the funds raised will do good for all time to come, by sowing good seed in the hearts of hundreds, by means of the books to be purchased therewith. Don't forget the Exhibition!

That Strawberry.

We had a jolly time eating that big Strawberry presented to us by R. Downing, Esq., of Middleport. We have heard some staggering stories in our day, of large Strawberries, and supposing our readers to have heard the same stories and doubted their truth, we will not hazard our reputation by a description of this one. We neither weighed nor measured the monster, and could not therefore speak with perfect precision of its dimensions. There was a paper accompanying it however, which did give its measurement, but unfortunately it is lost. According to our recollection, it was either four feet, or four inches, in diameter, or circumference, we cannot be positive. Our readers may fix it at what they please. The friend to whom we sent a slice, declared positively, after eating of it several times himself, and taking the opinions of other Pomologists, that it was not a Musk-melon, nor a Pine-apple, but, as he and they believed, a veritable Strawberry. Who can beat that?

A SKETCH OF TRAVEL, AND THE SIGHTS SEEN, WITH REFLECTIONS THEREON.

BY THE EDITOR.

No. 4.

Having been driven out of last week's issue, by the Sheriff, and fearing a return of the same functionary, we have been "lying around loose" with our "travels" until the hour of going to press, and are informed by the printer, that we can afford but a very small space this week, for either "sights" or reflections.

We are happy to notice the evidences of improvement along the route of our travel, which is confined strictly, as announced in the start, to the advertising columns of the Telegraph. Taking these as the true index of the business of our County, it will be seen that a great revival has taken place in trade and enterprise within the last few months. But it is equally evident that there is still room for great advancement. Very much of the trade of the community must still be transacted in other places, for these columns do not show a sufficient number of business men in the various departments of the mechanic arts, and other branches of business, to supply the wants of the community. We hope to see, from week to week, as we proceed, that enterprising citizens of our town, or others settling in our midst, are prepared to supply this apparent want.

We have so far confined our observations to the mechanical department, and shall continue to do so until all the shops in the county have been noticed, so far as we have any reliable evidence of their existence—repeating what has been before stated, that the only competent proof of the existence of any such trade or business must be found in the Telegraph's directory. For the purpose in view, we take it for granted, and the public at large have a right to assume the same fact, that if any particular business or trade, is not there announced, none such exists in the county, and every one is justified in going or sending to Cincinnati or anywhere else to supply the wants which cannot be met at home.—We have laid it down as a correct maxim of political economy, that every community should support and encourage its home mechanics. This is the undoubted duty, as well as the interest of all the citizens. No good citizen, who reflects for a moment on the subject, will pass by a good mechanic at home, to patronize and build up with his patronage, the trade of a distant town. But if, in looking over the advertisements in the Telegraph, it is ascertained that the article desired is not manufactured at home, then it is perfectly right and proper to seek it in other markets.

In a former article we referred to the enormous quantity of clothing—ready made clothing—slop-shop made clothing, if you choose, brought to, and sold in this place. We supposed one reason of this was the fact that there were not a sufficient number of tailors in town to supply the wants of the community. In looking over the "record" we found there were at that time but three establishments of the kind in the county, and they were attached to mercantile establishments, as a kind of secondary business. We are glad to see that the necessities of the public are being seen, and the vacancy is beginning to be supplied.

By his card in this week's paper, it will be seen that Mr. WILLIAM RUST has opened an establishment on Front street a few doors west of Court, where persons wishing clothes made to order, and to "fit," can now be accommodated. With Mr. Rust's No. 1 Sewing Machine, which makes more profitable music than a dozen pianos, and which is always at work, he can accommodate his customers on short notice. And from specimens of Mr. Rust's work which we have seen, we have no hesitancy in saying that he will give entire satisfaction to all who may patronize him. This shop is an acquisition to Pomero, and so far as it, with those named in a former article, can supply the wants of the citizens, there is no sufficient excuse for running to Cincinnati for a coat that can be as well made at home. But these shops cannot supply the wants of the public, and we expect soon to have the pleasure of announcing that other tailors have established themselves here.

As an accessory to the tailor, the Jeweler is an important member of any community. "The tailor makes the man, the milliner the woman, and the Jeweler, the gentlemen and lady." So somebody said. And "somebody" was not very far from the true philosophy. For men and women would hardly be recognized as such but for the handy work of the tailor, and milliner. They would look more like spilt sticks or forked radishes than veritable men and women, without the aid of these necessary trades. But having passed through the hands of these "operators" they are still but men and women. And as every body wants to be something more, the Jeweler is called in to supply the deficiency. But, aside from this, there are a thousand articles in the Jeweller's line that bona fide men and women want, as well as gentlemen and ladies. And if these wants are not supplied by home mechanics, a vast amount of money is sent off to distant cities, or lavished upon traveling peddlers or auctioneers. Now it is a notorious fact that all articles of jewelry are susceptible of such close imitation in base metal, that ordinary purchasers can not detect the cheat.—We do not say that traveling peddlers and auctioneers are cheats, or ever sell anything but the very best. But we do say, that it requires a pretty large credulity to believe that "all is gold that glitters."

We are happy to know, and to announce to the public, that we have in Pomero, persons of skill as workmen, and integrity as men, and who have identified themselves with the interest of our town, engaged in this business.—We refer to the advertisements of Peter Lambrecht, at Court street, and W. A. Aicher, and Messrs. Biehmann & Burkert on Front, whose establishments are a credit to the place, and whose characters as men of integrity are a perfect guarantee to all purchasers, that the goods sold are genuine. They are responsible, and have their reputations as business men to sustain, and purchasers may be assured of fair dealing. Now, we ask every citizen, what is his duty, and interest as well, in case he wants anything in their line of trade? You know these gentlemen—that they are good workmen, and are adding the full force of their labor and skill in building up Pomero, as well as their own fortunes. If they had the full home trade they could extend their business to any desired extent. Is it exactly the wisest policy to pass by these established houses, whose wares you know are what they are represented to be, and run the risk of being "sold" by the purchase of gilded shams, from unknown and irresponsible persons, who have no other interest in your or your town than to get your money? Just think of it a moment, and then go and "rig" yourselves to your heart's content, at these "institutions."

If all our people would take the right view of matters, and help each other by patronizing home mechanics and trade of all kinds, the prosperity of town and county, which mutually depend upon each other, would be vastly improved.—And the evidences of this wise policy, and increased prosperity will be looked for weekly in the business directory of the Telegraph. In the meantime there is room for a few "sights by the way."
